BLAST

UMM.ca
URBAN MALE MAGAZINE

July 5, 2007 Circulation: 93,613

Katana

By Todd Gervais

www.DreamAuthentics.com

DreamAuthentics, a leading manufacturer of customizable arcade cabinets, has just launched the Katana. It's the first and only tabletop unit that is a customizable arcade cabinet, retro digital jukebox, computer and DVD player all in one!

Loaded with nearly 200 video games, the Katana will make anyone feel like they're in an authentic arcade from the 80's andits compact design fits easily on a table top or bar top. The Katana, like all DreamAuthentics products, is built for individual customers' specifications. You just use DreamAuthentics' unique online configurator to customize your personal gaming cabinet, from the color of the buttons to the size of the joystick. Want to play Ms. Pac Man under the glow of your name in lights? With a custom marquee above the monitor, it's no problem.

The Katana doesn't skimp on audio features either—it comes standard with DreamAuthentics' exclusive jukebox feature which includes classic jukebox style buttons on the front of the cabinet. This replicates the look and feel of a commercial music jukebox with its 2-speaker system and subwoofer, while incorporating current MP3 technology. The Katana comes with 160-200 GB of storage space for at least 40,000 songs. And if you have that many songs, the Katana's search function will let you find precisely what you want to hear. Also unique to the Katana are the capabilities to display album covers or song lyrics on its 17" flat panel screen. The Katana features a PC-based game engine so you can play any off-the-shelf PC game. In addition, you can surf the net or watch a DVD. This is the ultimate in home entertainment—everyone from the video game guru to the music enthusiast will be entertained!