THE "BEST BUDDY" GIFT

DreamAuthentics Katana
OK, time to stop playing the oldies with new-fangled joypads. This tabletop arcade simulator packs honest-to-god buttons, a joystick, and a trackball. You can customize the 70-pound unit (yeah, it's that heavy) with extras like a lightgun and game packages that include everything from Asteroids to Yar's Revenge.

THE "ACQUAINTANCE" GIFT

8-Bit Tie
Don't stare too long at this classic console tie: It might make you feel like you got sucked into Super Mario world like in some cheesy '80s virtual-reality movie. It's a clip-on, which is handy for the tie-tying challenged, and the tie is so retro it's even made of polyester so it's spill resistant. We doubt it'll repel fireballs.

THE "ENEMY" GIFT

Billy Mitchell Hot Sauce
Coin-op champ/hot-sauce mogul Billy Mitchell is a strutting S.O.B. who will stop at nothing to defend his record Donkey Kong score—at least if you believe the depiction of events in the coming-to-DVD documentary The King of Kong. Turns out the film bends the truth, but that doesn't make the man's hot sauce—a family recipe marketed under the name "Rickey's Hot Sauce"—any less of a "What the...?" gift. Tasty on chicken, too!
